HIE most safe, effectual and economical remedy for diseases of the Human Constitution, that has ever been discovered.

These Pills are composed entirely of materials extracted from Medical Plants, and are warranted not to contain one particle of mercury, or any mineral substance. Dr Kingley, the inventor of this valuable medicine, from his knowledge of the Human System, derived from a long and extensive practice, has arrived to the conclusion, that the great and primary cause of most diseases is a derangement in the functions of the liver; or, in other words, an increased or diminished secretion of the Bite.

So well is this understood, that it is common for persons to say when they feel unwell, that they are bilious, meaning

When the functions of the liver are deranged, and the flow of bile increased, it is often taken up by the absorbent vessels and enried into the circulation, and becomes mingled with the blood as in Jaundice, when the patient shows it in his countenance. Now this impurity of the blood is caused by an increased flow of the bile, and to remedy it you must correct the secretion of the liver, and restore it to a healthy state.

Dr Kingley has spent much time in experimenting with different vegetable medicines, for diseases of the liver, and now offers his Universal Family Pills as the bast, most convenient and cheapest medicine that can be prepared for general use; and in offering them to the public, he is actuated more by benevolent then pecuniary motives, as the price of the medicine will show.

Dr Kingley flatters himself that his long experimenting with vegetable medicines has enabled him to discover the true and only substitute answering all the purposes of mercurials, without any of their attendant evils. One great quality of his Family Pills is that they have the alterative principle combined with their cathartic or operative quality, so that they not only cleanse the stomach and howels by purging, but they regulate the liver, change the morbid secretions, strengthen the digestive organs, purify the blood, invigorate the circulation, and give tone and energy to the nervous system.

They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and convey almost immediate conviction of their utility from the first dose. They can be taken with sifety by persons of any age, and the feeble, the infirm, the nervous, the delicate, are strengthened by their operation, because they clear the system of bad humors, quiet nervous irritabilities and restles ness, from what. ever source, and invariably produce sound sleep. Dr Kingley flatters himself that his long experimenting with ver source, and invariably produce sound sleep.

The Family Pills are an invariable remedy for the jaundice. sick and nervous headache, dyspepsia, costiveness, sickness of the stomach, heartburn, all bilious complaints, fevers of all kinds, and it taken at the commencement will invariably check their progress, and save the patient from a protracted and dangerous sighness. They are sightly all the patients of their progress, and save the patient from a protracted and dangerous sickness. They are invaluable in nervous and hypocondrical affections, loss of appetite, and all complaints to which temales alone are subject. They operate as a mild and speedy purge, and are a safe and certain remedy for worms in children.

Since I have introduced my Universal Family Pills to the public. I have received numerous certificates of their superior efficacy in curing diseases; also many letters from respectable physicians who have used them in their practice with the best success.

I might publish a small volume of certificates, but consider it unnecessary, as the medicine will recommend itself to all who will make trial of it.

ORIGINAL POETRY.

THE TOPER'S LAST EMBRACE. "Parting from thee is such sweet sorrow."
That I could say "good night" till it be morrow."
Shakspeare.

The toper sat nodding, nodding, Over his bottle of fun.
The clock it kept plodding, plodding,
Till it told the hour of one.

Now, my love, says he, I'm going To bed, that is, if I can;
I'm like a boat that's a rowing,
Tough against Isle of Man.

One embrace, you see I'm falling, Come, oh! come to my arms, I hear the constables calling,

I hear them chanting their psalms. The bettle dropped from his fingers, Not till the day was dawing, Oh love! like the plague it lingers— The laid both on't in the morning.

American Monthly Magazine for February, 1837. Boston, Otis & Broaders .- The first article is " Vanderlya, A Novel," Chapter II. and III .- To be continued. Alas! Mr Beojamin, how can a man of your benevolent disposition consent to tantalize the readers of the American Monthly Magazine, month after month, by giving them a novel by piece-meal! How many deep-drawn sighs will escape from your female readers, when they suddenly encounter at the end of the second chapter of " Vanderlya," the dismal words "To be continued." Then, again, in the next number, they are probably destined to meet with the same disappointment, and so on month after month, throughout the year. Such a constant series of disappointments, Mr Benjamin, cannot fail to produce a very disastrous effect upon the constitutions of all delicate, nervous, love-sick, novel reading females-and heaven only knows, how many individuals may die of consumptions, from this very cause alone. "To be continued"!! Only consider, for a moment, what might be the fatal consequences to a young lady of fine sensibility, were she to receive from a favored suitor a letter, couched in these

My Dear Rosa,-My actions have probably revealed to you long ere this, those sentiments which it is my object plainly to declare to you in this epistle. From motives of delicacy in regard to your own feelings, and to save both you and myself very considerable embarrassment, stammering, hemming, sighing, blushing, swallowing of words, &c. &c. To be continued.

Your more than friend,

TOM FLATTERWELL. What think you, Mr Benjamin, might be the effect upon the mind of a young lady, of receiving a love-letter, containing an offer of marriage, in this manner, by peacemeal-to be continued week after week-without coming to a denouement within the space of several months? Would any honorable man consent to trifle in this manner with the sensibilities of the female heart? We hope for the credit of the coxcombs of this generation, that such instances of procrastination are rare. Yet who will deny that a novel is far more interesting than a love-letter? Then again, instead of being read by one person alone, it is read my many thousands. How much more reprehensible, then, is the conduct of an editor, who addresses the different chapters of a novel to his female readers, by piece meal, in monthly portions ! Ponder well, Mr Benjamin, upon the evils which may flow from those fatal words, " To be continued"! On the whole, we think the contents of this number of the Magazine, are interesting and commendable. Its Editor is a man of genius and taste-and the Magazine ought to be good, as a necessary consequence

LEGISLATIVE.

Speech of Mr Cobb, of Malden, in the House of Representatives, on the Bill relating to Witnesses.

Mr Speaker-The bill under discussion is important, and I would that I might impress this House with a deep sense of its importance. It is full of interest to the community. It is important as the rights and liberties of mankind; it is important as truth, which has often, as you know, the power of life and death. It relates to the right of a citizen of this Republican Commonwealth to testify; nay, more, to the right of his friends to have him testify to what he knows and has seen, where interest, honor, or even life is at stake. A rule of Common Law, transported from a despotic clime, has excluded from the right of giving testimony as witnesses in Court, such as disclaim a belief in the existence of a God, and a future state of rewards and punishments. By the application of this rule entire, a man might have the most firm and sentimental faith in God, the most practical love and veneration for his law, and most lively sense of his accountability to the Divine Judgment, by which he should be made, in some way or other, to suffer adequate punishment for any wrong committed, and yet be debarred from giving legal testimony as to a matter of fact of his positive knowledge. And why? Because of his belief that mankind in the resurrection will not be subject to the infirmi ties of the present life, but will be "raised in incorrup IVING ON SMALL MEANS.—This day publishing on Small Means, by the author of the Young Mans' Guide and Small Means, by the author of the Young Mans' Guide Contents—Estates and Business, Houses and Furniture, Equipage and Servants, Dress, Food and Drink, Medicin: & Phypage and Servants, Dress, Food and Drink, Medicin: & Phypage and Servants, Dress, Food and Business, Societies, Societies, Examples. the world began; but is now made manifest by the appearing of Jesus Christ the Savior, who hath abolished death, and brought life and immortality to light through the gospel." And while this man, though one who fears God and exchews evil, is thrust out, one who would profess to believe that the future state instead of the present, is a state of rewards and punishments, though he might be indulging in wickedness, thinking it might yield him advantage now, and that he would settle up his account by re-pentance before he should die, would be admitted to

This rule was instituted by men, who had not learned that the belief in a present God and a present accountability, is a more efficient practical belief than that of a distant God, and a distant retribution. They who insti-tuted the rule to disfranchise this class of witnesses, may have been as conscientious as were the same or similar characters, when they burned, hanged, shot, whipped, and banished, their brethren, the servants of God, for difference of faith. But they miserably mistook their own, as well as others' rights and interests. They narrowed their own chance for obtaining truth and justice; and they set up a principle which, on a change of circumstances might even distranchise them. For, if it were deemed right for them, when in power, to cast down a class of respectable fellow-citizens for a difference in religious faith, it might be deemed right by the other party, on their accession to power, to do the like to their former oppres-

But of late the rule has been narrowed down to those who disbelieve, or who acknowledge a disbelief in the existence of God. The bill before the House proposes to abol ish this relict of the iniquitous rule, and to give our Courts iree access to all our citizens, for the development of truth and the establishment of justice. And, I trust, that the good sense, the moral sense, the righteousness and justice GLUE.—25 barrels prime Glue, for sale by WILLIAM of this Legislature, will make this bill an established law of the land.

For what purpose have we erected our Courts of Judicature? What is the object of all their inquiries through the testimony of witnesses? It is to find out truth, and dispense justice to every man. Why, then, should we deprive them, or why should we, who are their directors and supervisors, suffer them to deprive themselves of the means of coming at the truth? The object of testimony is the discovery of truth, the development of facts. Why, then, shall we deliberately and perseveringly refuse to hear the whole truth? Why say to a man, who knows the truth in a certain case—we will not avail ourselves of your knowledge, because you subscribe not to our faith? This is truly a strange, though legalised, piece of inconsistency. We profess to be in search after troth, and yet we refuse to hear the witness of truth; nay, we gay him, and thrust him out of doors. Why do we do this? Is it because we can place no confidence in the word of a man who is so unhappy as to doubt or disbelieve the existence of God? This is the assumption on which the obnoxious rule of common law is founded. It is a false assumption. It is the assumption of ignorance concerning the moral nature of man, and the nature and operation of the moral government of God.

I desire, Mr Speaker, that I may not be misunderstood. I am not one of those who consider it a matter of indifference what a man believes. I esteem the christian religion as above all price, in respect to its conduciveness to moral excellence, and to individual and social happiness. No man, I think, looks with sincerer pity than I, upon those unhappy fellow beings, who are "without hope and without God in the world;" nor can any one look with greater abhorrence on the conduct of a few men of disappointed ambition, who seem determined, if possible, to orphanise the universe, and by every trick of deceifful art to break up the confid nce and hope of others, and drag them down to their own level. And so I have seen conduct in professing christians, which is likewise abhorrent; and sentiments which I are a delegated to the conduct of the conduct timents which I regard as deleterious, so far as they may operate by their own legitimate influence. These things we may properly discuss, at proper times and places, and it is our duty to sustain and promulgate, such religious sentiments as we believe to be true, and conducive to the greatest good of mankind. But when we act in relation to the interests of citizens of our Commonwealth, in this Legislature, or in Courts of Judicature, we are not to act as their spiritual censors, or dictators to them in matters of religious belief. We are to regard them as fellowcitizens, having all a claim upon the government, for the protection of their civil rights, and their individual interests. And the spirit of the christian religion, if we are guided by that, will prompt us to support such institutions, and such administration of government, as shall respond to this just and equal claim. It will be infinitely best for the christian religiou, and of course for the community, that we should do so. Our inflicting legal proscription, disfranchisement, persecution, upon unbelievers for their opinions' sake, will not commend to them the beauty and loveliness of the religion under the influence of which we profess in the same instance to act. It will but renew and inspirit this opposition, and gain them accession of members, by exciting the sympathy and co-operation of their friends. Error is sometimes dignified by persecution, which would otherwise have died in insignificance. If then our object is to restrain the progress of infidelity, let us not give it an often fresh impulse, and a pretence to patriotic action in resistance of oppression, by employing injust legal proscription. From our acquaintance with the history of the past, our observation of facts, and our knowledge of human nature, we are fully persuaded that if any are for sustaining the rules of courts, which render unbelievers incompetent to testify as witnesses, with the view to lessen in this manner, or to overcome unbelief, they are employing a means, which defeats their benevoobject. I have said, Mr Speaker, that I am not one of those who regard it a matter of indifference, what a man believes. I believe that opinions of men, on subjects affecting the moral feelings and motives, have an effect upon the character and conduct, just so far as those opinions are sincerely entertained, and their legitimate influence not counteracted by other circumstances. I believe, furthermore, that Atheism is, in its natural tendency, degrading and demoralising. But men's opinions on one point, do not make up the whole machinery of their moral influence. There are various influences, from a multiplicity of sources, operating upon them. The Creator and Governor of the world, has not rested his moral government on so feeble and fickle ground, as that it should have no bearing but on the assent of the mind to the Creator's being. There is a divine law inwrought with the moral nature and constitution of man, which does not lose its hold, even when the mind speculates itself into a doubt, or disbelief of the existence of its Author. As the man who has blinded his eyes, by looking at the sun to discern its propensities-yet feels the influence of the sun which he does not see, -so the mind, which has speculated itself into a doubt or disbelief of God, by trying to comprehend his essence, yet feels the influence of the God whom he acknowledges not. There is an influence and operation there, which shows the law of God written in the heart. Notwithstanding his speculative Atheism, in him is fulfilled what the Supreme Judge says by his prophet; "I the Lord search the heart, I try the reigns, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings.' Mr Speaker, if I seem to be giving to my remarks a Theological character, my apology is that we are legislating on a theological subject. We are endeavoring to settle the question—yes, at this late day we are endeavoring here, in enlightened Massachusetts, to settle the question whether or not a citizen shall be disfranchised on account of his theological or anti-theological speculations. I have said that men's opinions on one point do not make up the whole machinery of their moral influence. There are various influences, from a multiplicity of sources, operating upon them. I have known persons who were sceptical on the subject of religious faith, and yet seemed to have an effective sense of their accountability to a righteous moral government. True there is an inconsistency, when they theoretically disown the moral Governor, while they practically feel their accountability to the moral government. But there are strange inconsistencies in mankind, another of which, with thousands of them, is, that while they theoretically assent to the truth of the divine existence, they have no practical sense of their accountability, nor practical love of truth and virtue. Other influences, and circumstauces in relation to other things, have gradually corrupted and depraved their hearts and lives. So if one theoretically disowns the being of God, though this is one circumstance unfavorable to virtue and happiness, yet he must be long and gradually wrought upon also by these other influences and circumstances referred o, in order to have the moral sense which God has implanted in the soul so supified and depraved, as to render him altogether unworthy of credit. Hence it is as plain as any fact in human affairs, that we cannot judge of the measure of one's trust-worthiness from his profession of religious opinions. We must judge of every one's testimony from his known moral character, and the circumstances under which he testifies. I presume there is not a man in this Hall who does not know some whalies or whom he regards as trust-worthy for the content of the c some unbeliever whom he regards as trust-worthy for truth and veracity, and also some professed believer in God in whose word he would place no confidence. Why then would you receive the worse as a witness, and cast the better away? Shall we continue to sustain, or to allow, in the judicial transactions of our Commonwealth, this mon-strous inconsistency? Shall we longer countenance this injustice, this cruel oppression, this casting a portion of our citizens out of the protection of laws? What is to be gained by it? Is there the prospect of the least gain by it, an any one show us the reason for expecting any thing to be obtained by it, but a sacrifice of the means of coming at truth and justice in certain cases,—and perhaps the forcing of those whom we make outlaws, to act as outlaws? Of this there is danger. Cast men out from the protection of your laws, and you may get them by and by to feel that they are under no obligation to those laws which protect them not; nay, they may think it just and patriotic to take the law into their own hands, and be arbiters unto them-

As Legislators, we are bound to act on the same golden rule, which should govern our conduct as christain individ-

We should sustain only such principles of government, as we should consider just and right, to have administered to us, were we the weaker party. There is no other just, republican, and permanent principle. With a government founded throughout, upon such pricciples, and such only, can all good citizens be satisfied. If one sins against the peace and well-being of the community, the injured community must treat him as self-defence requires. But no man must be treated as a criminal, until he is found guilty. No man should be thrust out, and that by authority of law, as a liar, and even a perjured wretch, against whose truth and veracity there is not the slightest evidence. Such treatment of the virtuous and the true, must be productive of just dissatisfaction; and tend to civil war and You may cast into his teeth his opinions on theology, but you cannot thus prove him a liar. We might all, by going to work thus, make out a plea for discarding the testimony of each other, for each sect finds some senti-ments held by another, which appears to him to be of licentious tendency. But after all, we are bound to respect each other, and to confide in each others integrity, according to each other's known moral character.

And now with regard to those who are excluded from giving testimony, by the obnoxius rule of courts, they are generally such as must first prove themselves to be governed by a regard for truth and veracity. The question is proposed to them, whether they believe in a God? Here is a trial of their veracity. If they have no regard for truth, as it will be for their personal credit and interest to lie, they will act the hypocrite, and say, that they believe in a God. If, upon that trial, they profess that they do not believe in a God, they prove that they have a regard for truth. And because they thus honestly tell the truth, they are thrust out as not be believed, as incapable of speaking the honest truth. Let us free our legal tribunals of this absurdity. Let the Bill before the House become a law, that every man may be treated according to his mertis, and all good citizens, being satisfied with their government, may united to sustain it.

BOSTON MORNING POST.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1837.

Washington, Feb. 11, 1837 .- Dear Sir-I was yesterday at the President's mansion, and had an opportunity to examine Col. Earle's full length likeness of Gen. Jackson, painted for the city of Washington.

It is a full length portrait as large as life. The President is represented standing on the south front of the Presidential mansion, in a full suit of black-the dress of a civilian-with a military cloak of blue, lined with scarlet, gracefully thrown over his shoulders, and open in front so as to display his person. He is supposed to have just returned from a walk; his left hand, without a glove, is resting upon the pedestal of a column of the portico; his right hand, gloved, rests upon, and holds, a beautiful black cane, a present from a friend at the North. His attitude erect, the weight of the body reposing principally upon the right foot. His white hat with the crape of mourning, which he has always worn on it since the decease of the partner of his bosom, lays on one of the crimson silk-covered chairs of the mansion, on his right.

In the back ground, on his right, are first seen two weeping willows, overhanging the arched mural gate way, in the vista, that opens towards the mansion grounds; and beyond is a beatiful view of the Capitol, with the grounds upon its western front, and portions of the city that lay between the Capitol and the President's mansion.

The sky, diversified with floating clouds, is a brilliant autumnal sunset, emblematical of the bright and glorious official retirement of the President. Its tints are of the richest and most mellow hues, and will vie with the best productions of Doughty.

As a whole-both in design and execution-it will be considered as a master piece. It combines the qualities of a portrait, a landscape, and a historical painting, and will secure to the distinguished artist, the first rank in his profession. It will immortalize Earle, as Washington's portrait has Stewart, and Napoleon's David.

The manner in which it has been ordered is alike creditable to the citizens of Washington and to Gen. Jackson. It is by a voluntary subscription of the citizens of Washington without distinction of party. They pay one thousand dollars for it; and no citizen was permitted to pay more than one dollar,

It is to be presented to the city Council and hung in the City Hall. It is a mark of respect that has been shown to no other President, not even to Washington. It is on the official sunset of Gen. Jackson-when the citizens have nothing more to hope or to fear from him. It is a tribute, a spontaneous, a voluntary tribute of respect, for what he has done-by the citizens who have lived by his side, and noticed his conduct during the eight years of his eventful administration. This circumstance must go far to convince the opponents of Gen. Jackson in other parts of the country, that he has been strangely misrepresented by heated partisans.

In future, every patriot, every man of taste, on visiting the Capitol of his country, will wend his way to the City Hall, to view the inimitable portrait of the greatest man of the age-Earle's JACKSON.

FIt is, indeed, amusing to hear Henry Clay descant upon the enormity of daring to complain of what is said by a Senator, when he challenged to mortal combat, while holding the office of Prime Minister under J. Q. Adams, John Randolph, a member of the U. S. Senate, for words spoken in debate, and attempted to take his life therefore! Whig consistency!

There appears to be but one opinion among the Democratic Press relative to the treatment Mr Whitney has experienced at the hands of Wise and Peyton, viz: that it was blackguard, bullying, and assassin-like, and that its authors deserve the execuation of every honorable man in the community.

Miss Tree will branch out at the Tremont this evening. Her refined and lady like style of acting, supported as it is with histronic genius and talent of the highest order, will win for her, at once, the admiration of those whose taste and judgment render them capable of appreciating the full excellence of her style.

James Hamar, an Englishman, has been committed to the County Jail in Newark, by Dennis Clark, Esq. of Rahway, N. J. for having killed his wife on Saturday night.

It is stated that a personal friend of General Jackson has espoused his quarrel with Mr Calhoun, and called upon the latter for that satisfaction which "one gentleman is expected to render to another."

Line of Telegraphs from New Orleans to New York .- The Post Master General, in a letter to the chairman of the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, expressed himself fovorable to such a project.

Two ruffians went on board the Steamer Hyperion, while the boat was lying at the wharf at St. Josephs, Florida, and murdered one of the deck hands by literally cutting him to pieces with their knives.

W. W. Charles, known at Mobile as Dr Charles, the keeper of a gaming house, was waylaid and murdered in that city on the 3d inst. Money was the object of the assassins, of which they got about $3000 from his person.

Norwich and Worcester Railroad .- The committee on the petition of the Norwich and Worcester Railroad, have reported manimously in favor of granting the aid prayed for.

ONE DAY LATER FROM EUROPE.

Capt. Nicholson, of the ship Caledonia, at New York, has brought a London paper of Jan. 3d, and a Liverpool paper of the 5th. The most important intelligence is the relief of the Spanish city of Bilboa on the 24th December, which had for a long time been beseiged by the Carlists, this day, Reuben M. Whitney appeared at the Bar of the and the entrance of the Queen's army into the city. This achievement was not effected without loss on the part of the Queen's troops, but is regarded as a signal triumph.

Consols were still better than by our last advices, having been done on the 3d as high as 90 5-8.

The London Times speaks of the favorable change in the public sentiment of England toward the United States, as a matter of general congratulation-it says-

"As concerns England, the only question remaining unadjusted between her and the Republic is that of the New Brunswick boun ary, intricate and tedious as it has already proved, but one which is obviously not of a character to produce any serious difference between Governments actuated as those of Great Britain and of the American Union are, and must be, to maintain unimpaired the inestimable advantages of their existing friendship.

The message of General Jackson, which appeared in vesterday's Times, has the characteristic common to it, with all the preceding ones of that plain-spoken, diligent, and sagacious veteran-great industry, great rerspicuity, great firmness and apparent integrity of purpose. The two subjects which form the staple of the message are the plethora of the Treasury and the dangers of a speculative and excessive banking system.

On the banking question we can only see that the President is a stern reprover and represser of the monstrous vices of an excessive paper currency; and for the sake of the great country which he governs, we trust that his predilection for the precious metals will be shared by the majority of the people. The President takes leave of his fellow-citizens in a passage which conveys some apprehension that he may not live to repeat his valediction on proroguing Congress. The message is less interesting to foreign Powers than others which have gone before it; but its tone is temperate, and its reasonings on some difficult questions of finance and currency are those of an able and searching mind."

Paris, Dec. 31 .- The investigation relative to Meunier is proceeding with activity. It appears that his crime is not isolated, and that the police have obtained clues to certain individuals, who are, it is said, very seriously compromised.

MARKETS. Liverpool.--Sales of Cotton, Monday, 2d Jan., 4000 bags. Tuesday, 3d, 1500; Wednesday, 4th, 4000 to 5000. The demand for the trade still continues good.

Mexico.-Santa Anna's party carries all before it in Mexico. The national flag, which had been kept at half mast since his capture at St. Jacinto, is now restored to its usual position. Three days of festivity and general rejoicing having likewise been had on the occasion of the news of his liberation.

It is reported also that Gen. Santa Anna will arrive at Vera Cruz about the middle of February, and that he will be appointed immediately to the Presidency.

Two other candidates are also spoken of, viz: Parris and Bravo neither of whom it is believed, can expect to be elected. Gen Bustamente, who probably would have been in substance, that the conduct of Mr Whitney was cool fixed upon for the office had Santa Anna not been liberat- and collected, and that he did not, so far as he saw, assume ed, now declines nomination.

Florida.-From Volusia we learn that Indian signs have been seen in that neighborhood, and it is supposed that a body of about two hundred are in that vicinity. smoke of their fires is seen every day. Col. Fannin was making preparations to march out and attack them. It is supposed that this body probably was waiting to hear a report from John Cæsar, preparatory to an attack upon

A requisition for 300 men has been made upon Govern-Much excitement seems to prevail at Tallahasse on the subject. The Governor has issued orders in com pliance with the requisition; but the Floridian says it is generally thought the subordinate officers will Nullify.

Indian Hostilities .- We are indebted to Mr Kidd, of the Merchants Exchange, for the following letter:—

"The Creek Indians are again in arms in this quarter, and committing depredations wherever they go. are the Indians supposed to be friendly by General Jesup, and who were consequently permitted to remain when the others were carried off. On the 28th ult., a party, over 20 in number, left Livingston in search of the marauders, for the revenue of the United States, was referred to the and found them in Cauiga Swamp, near the plantation of Doctor Battle, about 20 or 25 miles from Livingston. The Indians, as supposed, numbered near 100 warriors. A fight ensued, in which 6 or 8 of the enemy were killed, and one of the whites, a merchant from Livingston, by the name of Patterson. The whites were forced to retreat with 3 of their little company badly wounded, and others slightly, -leaving 11 of their horses dead on the field.-They retreated to the house of Dr. Battle, where they for tified as well as they could, and dispatched an express to town for aid, and waited the movement of the Indians, who encamped a little distance from the house. The aid, we learn, was sent, but what they have done we know not."—N. O. True Amer.

Dr Graham has had such full houses to listen to his lectures on courtship and marriage, and excited such an interest on the subject, that we hear there is a call for a repetition, and that he has consented to repeat his lecture next Friday evening. A robber in New York, on Wednesday evening, entered the house of Mr Thaddeus Phelps, and proceeded very deliberately into the chamber where Mr and Mrs Phelps were quietly sleeping, and took the pocket book from the pocket of Mr P's pantaloons, and a watch, with which he retreated in the quietest manner possible to the hall, left the pocket book on the stairs, after taking out the bank notes, and was unmannerly enough to leave the front door wide open, through which he escaped.

Two men named Moore, brothers, have been apprehended in New York, upon the charge that they in the month of December last, broke open the Oneida Bank at Utica, and stole $138,000 from the vaults under the Bank. CONGRESS.

Wednesday, Feb. 15 .- In the Senate the discussion on the appropriations for the Cumberland Read occupied

TRIAL OF REUBEN M. WHITNEY. House of Representatives .- Pursuant to the order for

The Speaker informed him that he was arraigned on the charge of having committed a contempt of the House, by peremptorily refusing to obey the summons of a Committee of the House, acting under the authority of the House; and asked whether he was now ready to go to trial.

The respondent replied that he was ready.
The examination was then commenced. Messrs Walter Jones and Francis Key appeared as Counsel for the Respondent.

Messrs Gillett, Fairfield, Martin and Hamer, were duly qualified as witnesses. Mr Fairfield was desired in substance to state all that transpired in the Committee Room, during the examinaof the Respondent, before the Committee, of which Mr Garland of Va. is Chairman.

Mr Calhoun of Ky. objected, at length, to this question. Mr Key (Counsel) replied. Mr Calhoun rose to rejoin, but was called to order.

The House then determined, by a vote of 92 to 103, that the member objecting to a question, had not the right of rejoinder, under the rule adopted by the House. The House then ordered that the question proposed by the Respondent should be put. Mr Chambers of Ky. submitted a Resolution suspending the order of the House in relation to the examination of witnesses by the Respondent; and after some debate, it was laid on the table, yeas 106, nays 67. Mr Lewis, after some remarks on the embarrassing situation in which he found himself placed, after having voted for the resolution prescribing the order of the proceedings, asked if there was any mode whereby that resolution a uld be suspended or rescinded. The Chair stated that there was no mode, except by obtaining a vote of two thirds.

Mr Fairfield then made his answer in writing. His account of the collision between respondent and Mr Peyton is substantially the same with that given heretofore.

The counsel for the Respondent asked the following question. What was the general deportment of Reuben M. Whitney before the Committee? Was he guilty of any indecorum for which he was censured by the Committee? Answer. With the exception of the answer in writing for which he was censured by the Committee, no complaint was made of any indecorum on his part, towards the Committee or any of its members. Question by counsel. Was the conduct of Mr Whitney, cool, collected and forbearing throughout the unhappy scene on Wednesday evening? Did he exhibit hostility or aggression in his manner towards Mr Peyton, or did he merely stand on the defensive.

Mr Mason, of Ohio, objected to the interrogatory, as a leading question; and it was withdrawn The Counsel having carried the form of the above question, so as to obviate the objection it was again put. Mr Mason then objected to the question as irrelevant, and he argued the point at great length. Gen. Walter Jones, (counsel) replied to the objection, with great force and eloquence. The question was then put and Mr Fairfield answered, the attitude of assault towards Mr Peyton. The examination was continued, till a late hour, when the House adjourned.

Thursday, Feb. 16 .- In the Senate Mr Clay reported in favor of granting copyrights to foreign authors.

A Bill to increase the military establishment of the United States, and making appropriations for the Comberland road were read a third time and passed. Mr Preston offered the following resolution, which lies over one day for consideration.

Resolved, That the President be requested to communicate to the Senate the Proceedings of the Court of Inquiry recently held in the City of Frederick, by notice of orders, No 65 and No 68, so far as the same relates to the cause of delay in opening and prosecuting the campaign in Georgia and Alabama, in the year 1836. Mr Reed, by leave, presented a memorial from the inhabitants of Newburyport, Mass., praying that an arrangement be made with Great Britain, respecting the reciprocation of Post Office facilities, referred. Several Senate bills were taken up and read twice, and referred. The bill designating and limiting the funds receivable committee on Ways and Means. The reference of the Land Bill was objected to, emains on the Speaker's table.

Trial of Whitney .- At 12 o'clock, the House resumed he trial of R. M. Whitney, arraigned at the bar for an aleged contempt of the House of Representatives.

The examination of Mr Fairfield was continued and

About six o'clock the House adjourned.

Shipwrecks and Loss of Lives .- Three Vessels lost in the late gale.—The brig Ellsworth, Capt. Adams, on Bills drawn at the Cape of Good Hope in his favor, with a cargo of coffee, went ashore about two miles south of the Light House, on Hull Beach, on Friday afternoon, and her foremast and on Hull Beach, on Friday afternoon, and her foremast and showing the appoint of premium. Vouchers will be required, to receive such premium. Vouchers will be required, the appoint of premium. maintopmast carried away. She had not bilged, but the showing the amount of premium actually paid on Spanish sea breaking over her, partly filled her. Capt. Adams, in endeavoring to reach the shore in the chain box, was drowned. All the crew got ashore, (with the ex- after, in "Dollars Currency of the United States," on the ception of the steward, who was drowned,) much frost bitten. The vessel was owned by Mr Zachariah Jellison, of this city, and it is stated that there was insurance to the amount of $81,000 on the vessel and cargo, of which $25,000 was at the Franklin, $10,000 at the Atlantic, $7,000 at the Warren, $15,000 at the Globe, and $8,000 at the Fishing Insurance Offices. The Mercantile says, that $10,000 was insured on the brig, but her policy expired three days previous. Accounts have been received fuom the E. up to 10 o' clock yesterday forenoon, at which time 700 bags coffee had been saved, and 500 more would be saved in the afternoon, nearly all in good order-about half the cargo was expected to be saved—she had 3330 bags coffee and 5 Boston bags ipecacuanha. She lies on Nantasket Beach, about 21.2 miles from Warrick's tavern-three of her timbers are broken, and she has bilged.

The brig Trio, Capt. John Humphrey, 63 days from Hayana for this port, went ashore on Deer Isle on Friday morning. She had a cargo of 400 hhds and 39 tierces molasses, which will be totally lost, as the vessel has gone to pieces. The captain and second mate were drowned-the rest got safe ashore.

We learn the following additional particulars from the City Hall News Room Bulletin:-The Trio made Boston Light, on Thursday evening, and soon after it set in a thick snow storm, and the crew being exhausted, Capt. H. felt obliged to stand in, and at 10 o'clock she struck on Fawn Bar, knocked off her rudder, and beat over Both anchors were then let go; but she dragged them, and about 12 o'clock she struck on Deer Isle-the sea breaking over her, the crew lashed themselves to the wreck. She went entirely to pieces about 7 or 8 o'clock on Friday morning. The mate states that he was thrown ashore on a piece of the wreck, how, he knows not. He saw the second mate throw himself into the water with the intention of swimming ashore, but the current took him under the wreck, and he disappeared. The last he Portland; sch Wm Tell, Benn, Dover. saw of the Captain (his father) he was hanging is the rudder hole, where he undoubtedly fell, and being unable to extricate himself, he is supposed to have perished in that situation.

The schr Spencer, of Portland, went ashore on Friday afternoon, about 5 o'clock, on Scituate Beach, and soon after went to pieces. The crew are supposed to have been

The sch. Orion, of Portland, whose crew was taken off by a vessel arrived at New York sometime since, was fallen in with 2d inst., lat. 34, lon 71, and 4 bbls. beef and 6 bbls, potatoes taken from her. Her rudder and sails were gone, and was about half full of water.

The ship Katherine, Jackson, returned to the Pass, below New Orleans, in distress, after being out only fourteen hours, and was run ashore to the eastward of the Bar. At the last accounts she had eleven feet water in her hold, and a steamboat was taking out her cargo, and had succeeded

DESPECTFULLY show unto your honorable bodies, the inhabitants of the town of Watertown, in the county of Middlesex, that the said town in the year 1778, purchased a tract of land lying within its limits, and continued to hold the same will the year 1812, that on the 18th day of February. same till the year 1812; that on the 18th day of February, 1812, an act was passed, e titled "An Act to incorporate the trustees of the ministerial fund in the town of Watertown," a true copy whereof is hereunto ann xel—that such proceedings have been had, and such changes made in the said town, that the trusts created and declared in and by the said act cannot now be executed according to the true intent and meaning of the said act nor in such manner as to do justice to your petit oners. Wherefore they pray that the said act may be so far modified and altered, as that the Trustees appointed under the said act may be required to pay the income of the property held by them into the treasury of the town of Watertown, to be disposed of for the benefit of the said town.

And as in duty bound will ever pray.

BENJ. FARRAR, and others.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS IN SENATE, Feb. 16, 1837. NEW ENGLAND CROWN GLASS.—The New England Crown Glass Company have recently erected a new farnace and are manufacturing an excellent article. The Crown Glass is thick, pure and of excellent color. Its thickness gives it an advantage over all thin glass, which is liable to crack from contraction in cold weather. Its surface not being polished after being blown, retains its enamel, brifliancy and hardness, and is not liable to the objection which applies to Plate Glass, of being easily and permanently bedimmed by The New England Crown Glass being purer in color that any other Glass, is preferable for Stores, as it does not tinge the rays of light as they pass through it, and therefore white goods particularly appear to advantage; and it is peculiarly useful for Factories, as some minutes of light may be gained morning and evening, in consequence of the absence of color in this glass. The price of second quality is reduced from the rates heretofore asked. Tates heretolore asked.

Those who wish to contract for this Glass are requested to specify New England Crown Glass. As much imposition has been practised by dealers in Glass, by deceptive marks on boxes and other artifices, any purchaser who may apprehend he has been imposed upon is invited by letter or personally to apply to the subscriber for any information he may wish to enable him to detect the deception. Orders sent to the undersigned, at Boston or East Cambridge, or to any at the Company's Selling Agents, will be promptly attended to Persons wishing the appointment of Selling Agent, can apply to the subscriber by letter or otherwise.

R. W. EVANS' CAMOMILE PILLS, having long acquired an exalted reputation in private practice by an inquired and exalted reputation in private practice by an invalue efficacy which could only have resulted from their exvarible efficacy which could only have resulted from their exvarible efficacy which could only have resulted from their exvarible efficacy which could not be sonly to get them exalted worth, he is confident that he has only to get them extensively known to render that reputation universal. Unlike the clamerous host of quack me icines with which the columns of the public press are crowded, these Camomile Pills, have the testimony of the whole redical profession in their favor, and not a single case of ill consequences or inefficacy to be allowed against them. Their very name candidly acknowledges what they are composed of—and they honestly promise no more than they faithfully perform. They are composed of a more than they faithfully perform. They are composed of a beautiful extract of the Camomile flowers, in which all the tonic and sestorative principles of that inestimable plant is preserved; and its irritating principle is neutralised by an alkeline infusion—they, therefore, necessarily afford immediate alkeline infusion—they, therefore, necessarily afford immediate relief, in all cases of dyspepsia, or other derangements of the relief, in all cases of dyspepsia, or other derangements of the relief, in all cases of dyspepsia, or other derangements of the relief, in all cases of dyspepsia, or other derangements of the relief, in the case, comfort, and ultimately of life itself consequent loss of ease, comfort, and ultimately of life itself consequent loss of ease, comfort, and ultimately of life itself to do, if they are good for anything—by their direct adaptation to the powers of the human stomach. There is one distinct to do, if they are good for anything—by their direct adaptation to the powers of the human stomach. There is one distinct to the powers of the human stomach. There is one distant body and mind, produced by this destructive practice, can only be relieved by a tonic, and such as the Camomile preparation contains. Dr W. Evans supplies an antidote for a host of public poisons, and a remedy for all those diseases which he professes to cure. A single trial will prove the vast superiority of a course of practice which is based upon science, experiences common agree and honesty.

TO THE LADIES.—Amongst thousands of ladies benefitted by Dr W Evans' Camomile Pills, Mrs M. Beaumont (corner of Canal and Washington streets) has kindly allowed it to for Canal and Washington streets) has kindly allowed it to made known for the benefit of others, that she was brought (by mental affliction) to a very weak and bad state of health, with pains in the side and head, was recommended to take Dr. W. Evans' Camomile Pills, which she has done to her comfort of mind and restoration of health. MRS. M. BEAUMONT.

TO THE AFFLICTED.—For the benefit of the public, and in gratifued to Dr W. Evans, I consider it a duty I owe, to make known the great good I have derived from EVANS' CAMOMILE PILLS. Having been five years afflicted with dyspepsia of the worst kind, I made application to numerous sources without benefit, but by the use of three bottles of Evans' Camomile Pills, and three boxes of Evans's Aperient Pills, I have found signal relief, fully to my satisfaction, and I am more healthy than I have been for many years. The symptoms (which were prins in the chest, weaknesses in the whole frame, heart-burn, flatulency, acidity, and headache) whole frame, heart-burn, flatulency, acidity, and headache) are all removed. I deliver this testimony over to Dr Evans, for his and the public benefit, for it to be made known. I hereby sign my name and address.

EDWARD RHODES, 95 Crosby street, N. Y.

A great many persons have been benefited and cured of different complaints: such as Dyspepsia, Consamption, Billieus and Liver complaints, Mendache, Weakness, Female Complaints, Nervous Diseases, Spasms, and others of all those Complaints for which the Pills are so efficacious.

Dr W. Evans' Office where both his Camomile and Aperient Family Pills can be obtained, is at 95 Division street, New York.

TO THE PUBLIC.

To the Public of the Circuit Court of the United States, for a preter ded infringement on their Hanging Lamp; and have cautioned the public against the use of my Lamp. Mr Bacon (for I do not think Esq Piumb advised the course) thought fit, in my absence from the State, to enter and examine my Factory, and sweep off my entire property, by the attachment—taking a course, by threatening and otherwise, intended to intended the public to suspend their judgment against the validity of my patent, until the question is settled.

In the manufacture and sale of the Fish Lamp, I supposed I was pursuing an honest and lawful calling. The Commissioner of Patents, who granted mine, (ander the new law) is bound to refuse a Patent, if, on examination, it appears to be an infringement on any patent previously granted. But the Commissioner, in the full knowledge of his duty, granted my Patent, and the right of making and vending the Lamp. Do I then act unreasonably in making and vending the Lamp. Do I then act unreasonably in making and vending the Lamp. The then act unreasonably in making and vending the Lamp, that mine is no infringement? Have I manifested a malicious intention to injure Mr Bacon in his rights? Is my case not unlike making and vending the same Lamp, or a similar one, without a Patent? Doos my conduct require such rash dealing?—especially as Mr B. could have appealed from the Commissioner to a Board of Arbitrators, and prevented the issuing of my patent, # he could have shown any infringement.

I do not propose, neither would it be proper, in this place,

CAUTION:—LAWRENCE'S HANGING LAMP.—The subscribers, having purchased the right to the above Lamp or Chandelier, take this mode to caution the public against the use of certain others, which have been recently introduced into the market, constructed upon the same principle, and intended as an invasion of their exclusive privilege. They have instituted a suit, in the Circuit Court of the United States, against JOSIAH DANFORTH, of Middletown, the Assignee of Platt's Union Lamp, so called, and others, for making and vending that Lamp. They consider that as a plain and palpable violation of their rights. It is known by this peculiarity, that the reservoirs for the oil are, generally, made in the form of fishes. Their duty to themselves, and to those to whom they have granted privileges under their patient requires that their rights, conferred by the law of the United States, should be protected: and they hereby admonish all, who make, sell, or use their Hanging Lamp, without authority from them, under whatever disguise, that legal measures will NATHANIEL BACON, WILLIAM PLUMB, 2d.

"Cleanse the foul Bosom of that perilous stuff which weights upon the Heart."

Dr. LOVEMAN'S Balm of Gilead is universally acknowledged to be peculiarly efficacious in all inward wastings, loss of appetite, indigestion, depression of spirits, trembling or shaking of the hands or limbs, shortness of breath, and consumptive habits. It thins the blood, eases the most violent pain in the head and stomach, and promotes gentle perspiration. By the Medical Faculty this medicine is much admired being pleasant to the taste and smell, gently astringing the fibres of the stomach, and giving that proper tensity which a good digestion requires.

being pleasant to the taste and smell, gently astringing the fi bres of the stomach, and giving that proper tensity which a good digestion requires.

Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead is recommended to the weak, the relaxed, and debilitated, as an agreeable and speedy restorative; and considered as a cordial, is essential to the comfort taken before going out to parties, balls, roots or the play. It will enliven the spirits and invigorate the mind and body, and if taken after fatigue, it will with a few hours sleep, take away all laeguor consequent on broken rest, and give reliet from every unpleasant sensation.

NERVOUS DEBILITY

"Without Health we can enjoy no Fortune; Honors, Riches, and all other advontages are useless."

HIPPOCRATES. This Cordial has been uncommonly successful with young people who have the appearance and air of old age, who are pale, effeminate, benumbed, stupid, and even imbecile; whose bodies are become bent, whose legs are no longer able to carry them, who have an utter distaste for every thing, and are totally incapacitated. Where the stomach is frequently disordered, the body is weakened; paleness, bodily decay and emaciation succeed, and the eyes sink into the head. The virtues of Dr Loveman's Balm of Gileadare demonstrated, in oradicating the worst and most dangerous symptoms of nervous debility, and nothing has tended so much to establish the fame of this medicine, as its certain success in those complaints This Cordial has been uncommonly successful with young

Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead has risen in repute with every triat of its efficacy. Some, perhaps, unacquainted with its virtues, not having perused the Guide to Heslth, may be induced to ask what is the Balm of Gilead good for? What complaint deth it care?—To answer this it will be necessary to plaint doth it cure?—To answer this it will be necessary to

Let those who are afflicted in the following manner reflect

Let those who are afflicted in the following manner reflect on the cause that produced such have upon the "wholesome appetites and powers of life:"—disordered stomach, dry cough, weakness in the voice hoarseness, shortness of breath upon the lenst exercise, and relaxation of the whole system. Those afflicted with paleness, languor of the eyes, weakness of sight or memory, should take time to consider Linneur's advice, that "youth is the important period for forming a robust constitution," and that "aothing is to be dreaded so much as premature excess." The foundation of a happy old age is a good constitution in youth; temperance and moderation at that age are passports to happy grey hairs.

For such as have violated these precepts, then, this healing balm is suitable—complaints included in the vague appellation of Nervous and Consumptive, are those for which it is

In offering this medicine to the public, I can say with confidence that they will find great benefit by using it in all diseases recommended, as I am fully acquainted with the medical qualities, as they have been discovered by myself, and are extracted from vegetables, and I can truly say, there is no earth tracted from the confidence of the confide ly danger in using the medicine by any person, no matter how they may be afflicted. This medicine has been used by a large number of persons, and have been cared of diseases of a long standing, when all other medicines have failed.

THE TRUTH WILL PREVAIL. CERTAIN DISEASES CURED.

Dr. Goodwill's Gonorthæa and Gleet Detergent.

If the only infallible remedy ever discovered for Gonorthæ and Gleets is now become too well known and established, in all parts of the Union, to require comment. Its universal success, which in no instance has ever failed, has warranted it to cure in forty-eight hours the most desperate and inflammatory cases of Gonorthæa, Gleets, and whites in all their stages, strictures, Seminal Weaknesses, pains in the loins, irritation of the Uretura from Gravel, as well as chronic affections of the urinary bladder and kidneys, if ever so violations of the urinary bladder and kidneys, if ever so violent or of long standing. poets, the lover and the eulogist of the ladies, never forgot, in his odes, to mentiod of the teeth of pearl.

Ovid never for one moment lost sight of the "balmy breath" of his ladies, and his earnest recommendation to both sexes of his ladies, and his earnest recommendation to both sexes was ever to "keep your teeth elean, and your breath sweet." The ancients had the means of doing so. Anacreon's beauties were as noted for their flowing zones and their eyes of fire, as for their teath of pearl and their breath of balm.

Ovid, who has taught us how to love and be loved, laid more stress upon the teeth and breath, than any other point—and verily these precepts are worthy of our practice.

How many matches have been broken off—how many amantes separated—how much misery caused by the single fault of a bad breath.
